Written Statement of Reasons for Detention

I find that the accusations in the indictment and the information provided in the pretrial services report and at the detention hearing establish by a preponderance of the evidence that no condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required.

I conclude that the following factors specified in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g) are present and are to be taken into account:

1. Defendant is a 47 year old U.S. citizen born in Houston, Texas. He lives with his parents in Houston. He has traveled to Africa and Europe for business and to Mexico for leisure. He has an expired U.S. passport. He is divorced and has a 25 year old daughter. He has been unemployed for 16 months and reports prior employment in the construction business.
2. Defendant has a criminal history that includes convictions for manufacture or delivery of a controlled substance, auto theft, and engaging in organized criminal activity. He also has two prior arrests on charges of engaging in organized criminal activity that were dismissed.
3. Defendant has been charged with conspiracy, conspiracy to launder funds, and wire fraud in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 371, 1343 and 2, and 1956. The charges against Defendant have a potential penalty of up to 30 years in prison.
4. Defendant was charged by indictment in March 2009. He did not voluntarily surrender and avoided arrest until October 2010. He has no financial ties to the community. He potentially faces a lengthy prison sentence.
5. There is no condition or combination of conditions of release which would assure the appearance of the defendant in court. Detention is ordered.

Directions Regarding Detention

It is therefore ORDERED that the defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or his designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver the defendant to the United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with all court proceedings.
